Dean's Message

Dr. Francis Ndemo, Dean and Associate Professor - School of Pharmacy & Health Sciences

Dear Colleagues:

I am delighted to welcome you to our first edition of International Pharmaceutical and Health Sciences Research Conference and Exhibition which will be held from October 26-28, 2022.

Today, the world is changing at a fast pace, and the borders between countries are becoming more and more transparent. The problems occurring in the society are more complex than those in the past. In order to solve these problems, we need a multidisciplinary approach on a global scale. Hence, we have organized this international conference with the theme of "Collaborative research for distinction in research and scholarship".

The School of Pharmacy and Health Sciences offers undergraduate programs in Pharmacy, Epidemiology & Biostatistics, Applied Biochemistry and Analytical Chemistry. Our faculty and students are actively engaged in a number research activity through international collaborations and also by using the state of the art laboratories in the school, and we look forward to sharing our work with you during the conference.

The conference will help pharmacy and other health professionals present their research work and display their innovations in the form of oral presentations, poster presentations, and exhibitions. Additionally, the forum provides an excellent opportunity for sharing, cross-learning, and mentoring of younger scientists as well as a platform for the discussion of current health challenges, the exchange of new knowledge, and discussions on the way forward.

I hope that this unique international and multidisciplinary conference will provide our participants with a truly transformative experience through a variety of knowledge and perspectives so that we can come up with solutions to the complex problems in our society.

Message by the Chair of the Conference Organizing Committee

Dr. Ermias Mergia Terefe, MPSK, Chair, Department of Pharmacology and Pharmacognosy

On behalf of the Organizing Committee, it gives me a great pleasure and honor to welcome students, health professionals and researchers to this signature event of the year, the first International Pharmaceutical and Health Sciences Research Conference and Exhibition in USIU-Africa. The goal of the conference is to provide a platform for scientists, health professionals, undergraduate and postgraduate students to network and share their research findings.

The conference brings together experts from academia, scientists, health professionals, innovators and students (pre-university, undergraduate, postgraduate) from Kenya and beyond. The three-day conference has four tracks that will run parallel to each other in breakout sessions. The tracks include- Drug discovery, development and clinical pharmacy; Social and regulatory pharmacy; Health care, sciences, and medical education research; and STEM and health care products innovation. In the conference, participants will also get the opportunity to connect with different pharmaceutical companies in Kenya and in the region, making it a great platform for networking.

We look forward to an excellent meeting with great scientists from different countries around the world and sharing new and exciting research findings and innovations.

INTRODUCTION

The International Pharmaceutical and Health Sciences Research Conference and Exhibition (USIU-AFRICA/ SPHS- IPHRCE) is the School of Pharmacy and Health Sciences' (USIU-AFRICA) Annual Pharmaceutical and Health Sciences Research Conference and Exhibition, with the mission to strengthen the academic, research, and community service agenda of the school by disseminating, sharing, and digesting various scientific outputs as well as other allied products, as well as networking and strengthening partnerships and collaborations. The conference is open to research scientists, health professionals, and undergraduate and postgraduate students undertaking scientific and health-related research.

The objective of the conference

1. To provide a platform for health professionals, students, faculty, and staff to share their research findings;

2. To strengthen research partnerships and relationships with other stakeholders;

3. Capacity development for enhanced information sharing and continuous professional development.

The conference will also help pharmacy and other health professionals present their research work and display their innovations in the form of oral presentations, poster presentations, and exhibitions. Additionally, the forum provides an excellent opportunity for sharing, cross-learning, and mentoring of younger scientists as well as a platform for the discussion of current health challenges, the exchange of new knowledge, and discussions on the way forward.

In addition to providing an opportunity to share research findings and best practices, it also serves to increase youth engagement and leadership in pharmacy and other health-related fields. The diverse range of conference subthemes caters to a wide range of interests, including those venturing into new and emerging areas.

Participants of the conference will get the opportunity to meet their peers, colleagues, and distinguished researchers, practitioners, and policymakers for three (3) full days of learning and education, networking, collaboration and mentorship.

The three days of the conference will include a scientific program with plenary, breakout, poster sessions and exhibition. The conference will be delivered in hybrid mode, allowing both face to face and virtual participation.

There will be a best research scientist competition, and certificates will be presented to the top four authors decided by an audience vote.

The conference abstracts will be published as an e-book of abstracts/conference proceedings.

The School of Pharmacy and Health Sciences and IPHRCE assume no liability or responsibility for the publication of any material that is submitted. Use of the USIU-Africa logo in any abstract submission or poster presentation is strictly prohibited.

6. Registration requirement for publication and scheduling- The presenting author is required to attend the meeting via face to face (using PowerPoint slides or poster) or online (using PowerPoint slides) to present the research work. If the presenting author is unable to attend the meeting, a co-author is required to assume the responsibilities of the presenting author. The presenting author is required to register for the conference on or before Friday, September 30, 2022. Failure to do so will be considered as withdrawn abstract. Withdrawn abstracts/ posters will not be published online or presented during the meeting.

7. Notification of receipt and verification of submission. You will receive an immediate email confirmation of completion when you have successfully submitted the abstract. This notification only confirms receipt of your submission and is not a notification of acceptance. If you do not receive an immediate email confirmation, your submission is not complete. You must return to the submission site to complete the submission process. If you return to the submission site to review or make changes to your abstract for any reason, you must complete all submission steps again to be sure your abstract is successfully submitted.

8. Abstract/poster withdrawal- The submitting author may withdraw their abstract or poster at any time. To withdraw, send written notification to pharmaconference@usiu, and include: 1. Note that individuals who register for the in-person option but can no longer attend the in-person proceedings may switch to the virtual registration and receive a refund of the difference in fees, so long as that is also done on or before August 30, 2022. If you switch registration types, you are subject to the current rate at the time of switching. No adjustments will be provided after August 30. No refunds are available after August 30, 2022. All cancellation requests and questions must be emailed to pharmaconference@usiu.ac.ke

10. Posters or PowerPoint slides must include the accepted abstract. Posters or PowerPoint slides that are uploaded for presentation must include the accepted abstract, including all methods used and data resulting from the research. The title of the poster or PowerPoint slides must match, verbatim, the title of the accepted abstract. Omitting data from a poster or PowerPoint slide presentation that was included in the submitted abstract is unethical. Authors and organizations violating these requirements will be subject to penalties including withdrawal of their paper and being barred from submitting to any future IPHRCE conferences.

11. Abstract blinding and review- All submitted abstracts will go through a blind peer-review process carried out by an independent reviewing scientific subcommittee. The committee will post reviewer's comments to the corresponding authors through emails.

12. Acceptance criteria- Acceptance of the abstract for presentation will be based on the concise, accurate presentation of new data. It is imperative that data is presented in the results section so that IPHRCE scientific subcommittee can judge the scientific value of your abstract. Include all research information, data, charts, and graphs in your submission so that it can be screened in its entirety. Abstracts will be reviewed and scored based on the following:

   • Is the conclusion of the research data driven?

   • How exciting/novel will viewers find this research?

   • How well does the research incrementally advance its field?

   • How well does the author's selected strategy for evaluating the hypothesis suit the project?

13. Rejection criteria-The IPHRCE Scientific sub-committee reviews each abstract to ensure it is qualified for consideration. Abstracts that do not meet the requirements outlined above are rejected. Causes for rejection include:

   • Lack of data.

   • Commerciality.

   • Inconsistent or ambiguous data.

   • Reviews of literature.

   • Lack of novelty or innovation.

   • Stating that data or information will be included in the poster presentation instead of including it in the abstract.

   • Failure to follow format guidelines (Background, Objective, Methods, Results, Conclusions, Key words, Acknowledgements).

   • Failure to upload tables or charts as images as directed (tables and/or charts are not to be included in the text box for the Purpose, Methods, Results, or Conclusions. Tables and/or charts must be uploaded as images).

- Failure to submit one strong abstract instead of several abstracts presenting the same work. The submission of multiple abstracts covering the same or similar work is discouraged and may be rejected by the committee.

14. Notification of acceptance or rejection-Notification of acceptance or rejection will be sent to the corresponding author. Please note that only the corresponding author will receive mail concerning the abstract and is responsible for informing all co-authors of the status of their abstract. Authors whose abstracts have been accepted will receive instructions for the presentation of their abstract.

15. Abstract revisions- Once requested to revise your abstract, submit revised version of your abstract within 10 working days. Revisions cannot be made after October 10, 2022. Author names and affiliation or company names will be published as submitted. Be sure you have the correct and current author information. Proofread, spell-check, and make sure all authors are listed on your abstract before submitting. Abstracts will be presented in conference materials exactly as they appear at the time of submission.

16. Publication of the Conference proceedings: All the accepted abstracts will be published as an e-book of abstracts/ conference proceedings. If you have any questions regarding your abstract submission, please contact the abstract support team at pharmaconference@usiu.ac.ke

Abstract
Background
The first part of your abstract should state the problem you set out to solve or the issue you set out to explore and explain your rationale for pursuing the project. The problem or issue might be a research question, a gap in critical attention to a text, a societal concern, etc.
Objectives
The purpose of your study is to solve this problem and/or add to your discipline's understanding of the issue. This section of the abstract should explain how you went about solving the problem or exploring the issue you identified.
Methodology
Your abstract should also describe the research methods; this section should include a concise description of the process by which you conducted your research. Describe the basic procedures (such as the selection of study participants or laboratory animals, microbes, observational and analytical methods) used in your study.
Results
Next, your abstract should list the results or outcomes of the work you have done so far. If your project is not yet complete, you may still include preliminary results or your hypotheses about what those results will be.
Conclusion
Finally, your abstract should close with a statement of the project's implications and contributions to its field. It should convince readers that the project is interesting, valuable, and worth investigating further. In particular, it should convince conference registrants to attend your presentation.
Key words
Authors should include 3-5 key words at the end of the abstract.

Additional points to note while preparing your abstract

- Abstracts may contain as many as 800 words.

- All abstracts must be submitted in English.

- Abstracts can only be submitted on line via the link provided on the IPHRCE website.

Authors are therefore strongly advised to take care to ensure that the content of the article is accurately represented and that the significance and impact of the article are highlighted.

- Do not include scientific symbols, acronyms, numbers, bullets or lists in the abstract.

- Do not include any charts, bibliographies or footnotes.

- Abstract should be single-spaced in 10-point Times New Roman.

BEST ABSTRACT AWARD

Best abstracts, posters and innovations will be selected for award from accepted submissions. The Best Abstract Award brings attention to the most exciting research found, based on abstracts that are submitted and screened before the event. The highest ranked abstracts, as determined by reviewers during the blind abstract screening process, that have been authored by qualified candidates, are automatically forwarded for consideration to the steering committee.
